Always enjoy hearing Candy speak. She has so much energy and positivity! Building connections is really the key in establishing relationships with your students and it has to extend outside the classroom! Kids appreciate it when you show up to their after school activities and those connections help to build a bond that students need to feel safe and accepted in your classroom! Great insights!

Awesome Speaker and very knowledgeable!

Candy is awesome! Still is as pretty as she was in 6th grade! Cannot believe you are approaching the big 6-0. Still look and act like 35. Peace Sister1

Candy is such a riot!!

Enjoy hearing everyone's educational background. Loved the quote about education going beyond the classroom.

Fantastic leader of the PAC!!!

Great comment about "not waiting for a disruption to learning to implement virtual learning." Awesome idea. Also, thanks for the tip about iPE and iHealth.

Great energy. Candy's experience in teaching is still current and focused on kids. Communication is key and I love her focus on Equity, inclusion, diversity.

I will check out her resources this fall as we are teaching both on line and face to face.

great reminder to stay connected in what is important to the students in their personal lives.

I agree making connections and including every student should be every educators goal.

I agree with the comments you made about Professionalism. I have been dealing with that issue at our school with a young coach and trying to get him to understand that concept.

I agree. Between equity, inclusion and diversity, inclusion is something we must all have in our classrooms.

I like that she gave motivation about working with a different variety of students and how to connect with all of them in different ways. We need to make all students feel safe and connected while in school and our classes (ex. its okay to ask a question or make a statement and be wrong). Also to make sure students see you outside the classroom to make those positive connections.

I loved Candy's enthusiasm! I see why former students keep in touch with her. I need to be more like her in my teaching style!

I would love to learn a little more on the IHealth! Thank you for your infectious enthusiasm!

Interactive PE will be looking into as the content was exactly what I needed for the fall.

Thanks!!

The ihealth and iPE information really were spot on. Great Session.

This was a good reminder that even if you have great programming and organization you need to have an even greater heart for students. Thanks for the encouragement.

This was different than I have ever done. I liked Candy's enthusiasm. I just would have liked some ideas (games etc) to incorporate into this year's abnormality.

Very fun to listen to and hear her perspective and experiences. Great insight and looking forward to checking out the resources.
